Clint is a pleasure to work with. His professionalism is evident in every interaction. He clearly is an expert in getting products from China. After speaking with dozens of others who perform a similar function, he is the only one who keeps me informed, delivers on time, and provides advice and counsel along the way. It is truly a pleasure to work with him.

He worked round the clock to secure mobile phones from manufacturers in China that met impossible requirements defined by my client. Clint is professional and you can count on him to find solutions and achieve results.
